City gets first Electric Vehicle Charging Station

Two more to come up in Rajendranagar and Kuvempunagar

Mysuru, Jan.27 (MTY&SSV)- Mysuru got its first Electric Vehicle (EV) Charging Station on the premises of Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) at its Corporate Office in Vijayanagar, near Hinkal.

Though the charging station was set up nearly a month ago, it was formally inaugurated by CESC Managing Director Manohar M. Bevinamara yesterday. K.M. Munigopal Raju, Superintending Engineer, CESC and others were present on the occasion.

"We have opened the first EV charging station in Vijayanagar. Two more stations will be opened in Rajendranagar and Kuvempunagar soon," Bevinamara told Star of Mysore.

The charging station had been established at a cost of Rs. 8 lakh by Energy Efficiency Services Limited, an entity promoted by the Union Ministry of Power, which has an understanding with the CESC. Charging of vehicles will be free for the first three months and thereafter, the rate will be fixed as per tariff suggested by Karnataka Electricity Regulatory Commission (KERC).

"We have extended support to the service provider by giving our land for setting up of the station. Our endeavour is to have such charging stations across the city to promote more and more people to use the green vehicles. The electric vehicle is the panacea for increasing fuel prices and checking air pollution," the MD said.

IMF Chief

Economist backs farm laws

Washington, Jan. 27 (Agencies)- Mysuru-born Gita Gopinath, Chief Economist, International Monetary Fund (IMF) has backed three farm laws enacted by BJP-led NDA Government saying that they have the potential to increase farmers' income, but there is a need to provide a social safety net to the vulnerable cultivators. "There are multiple areas where the reforms are needed, including infrastructure", she added.

Gita said, "These particular farm laws were in the area of marketing. It was widening the market for farmers. Being able to sell to multiple outlets besides the Mandis without having to pay tax. Every time a reform is put in place, there are transition costs. One has to make sure and pay close attention that it's not harming vulnerable farmers, to make sure that the social safety net is provided. Clearly there is a discussion right now and we'll see what comes out of it," she said.

Thousands of farmers from Punjab, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh have been protesting on Delhi border since last two months to scrap the farm laws.

Misattribution, says Pramoda Devi

Mysuru, Jan. 27 (BCT)- Member of erstwhile Mysore royal family Pramoda Devi Wadiyar has taken objection to what she has clarified as 'misattribution' of 'Lot No. 32' in the 'Opulent Collectibles' online auction put up by AstaGuru Auction House.

AstaGuru is organising an online auction on Jan. 27 and 28 and the items up for auction includes an F&C Osler floor candelabrum with a minaret dome that has the imprint of Mysore Palace.

In a letter to CEO of AstaGuru Auction House Tushar Sethi, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar has said, "I must protest in the strongest possible terms the irresponsible attitude you have exhibited in the completely false attribution of the chandelier, Lot No. 32 in your Collectibles Sale of January 27 and 28th as coming from Mysore Palace. A simple phone call to either Bangalore Palace or Mysore Palace would have clarified the issue. You neglected to take this obvious avenue."

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Much of the exultation around the Indian victory in Gabba lays it at the doorstep of a New India, one that does not take things lying down. The 'ghus ke maaro' attitude is now being seen as the new way India does business with its rivals. The 'don't mess with India' sentiment that is doing the rounds on social media is easy to understand. For this victory is truly a sign of a deep resilience that did not exist before.

There is a difference between strength and aggression, and this win is important because it illustrates just how big that difference is. In today's India, we mistake angry posturing with strength. Aggression is easy to adopt when one is strong, there is nothing particularly admirable about bullying the weak and cowering before the strong. Strength lies in knowing what one is capable of and acting with quiet confidence, not in sloganeering. It is not as if aggression is not occasionally useful, but it is only a small part of the process of being genuinely strong.

What this victory holds is the prospect of an even newer India. One where every individual, whichever walk of life he or she comes from, has the opportunity to make a difference. Where we do not cover up our fears and insecurities by puffing ourselves up or threatening the weak or those that are different. All of us, regardless of class, political ideology or ethnicity, felt something truly special at this victory. What united us was something universal, something that ran deeper than all our divisions. That is as good a starting point as any for a genuinely new India. — Santosh Desai in The Times of India

Cat lives 21 days in container sans food

Odessa: A cat surprised workers of a shipping company when it walked out of a locked container after spending three weeks at sea with no food or water.

When opening a sealed container that had traveled over two thousand kilometers from Ukraine to Israel, over a period of three weeks, the company's staff found a grey cat inside. The animal looked a bit scared, but was otherwise in good condition, despite having endured a long journey without any food or water.

Upon discovering the purring stowaway, Star Shine Shipping checked the video tapes to find out how it had wound up in the container. Apparently, the curious feline snuck inside the metallic container as it was being loaded in the port of Odessa and got locked inside.

Rare snowfall pattern on Sahara Desert

Sahara desert: The desert, which covers most of Northern Africa, has gone through shifts in temperature over the past few hundred thousand years - but snow and ice are still very rare.

Temperatures fell in the Sahara desert to as low as -3 Degree Celsius, leaving sand dunes in one Algerian town dusted with snow.

This drop in temperature allowed the town of Ain Sefra to experience snow for only the fourth time in 42 years. The other three times were in 1979, 2017, and 2018. In 2017, a blizzard dumped snow up to a meter deep in Ain Sefra.

Photographer Karim Bouchetata posted dramatic images and video of the unique weather in the remote town.

Ain Sefra is located in the Atlas Mountains, 1,000 meters above sea level and is known as "the gateway to the desert."

"This plane is made by your students."
Then all professors stood up, ran and went outside. But the Principal was sitting. One guy came and asked,
"Are you not afraid"?
Then the Principal replied:
I trust my students very well and I am sure the plane won't even start !!

Pave Kukkarahalli Lake Pathway like Kadri Park

Sir,

Recently there have been a spate of letters in SOM about whether it was feasible to fix interlocking tiles on the bund road around the Kukkarahalli Lake or not.

At present, since it is not paved, it becomes slushy during rainy season and so becomes unuseable. But then, if the road is paved and made into an all-weather road for walkers, there is the charge that it would hurt the knees and ankles of those who use it regularly.

Why not design it in such a way that half the road is paved and half the road is not? Then there would be a choice for the walkers too. Also the place would be fit for walking, throughout the year. This has been done in Kadri Park, Mangaluru, which I consider a model park for the whole country [see photo].

India's first Sandalwood Museum opened in city

Minister plans shifting Museum to Palace or Zoo premises

Mysuru, Jan. 27 (MTY&KS)- If the fragrance of sandalwood attracts you, check out a wide array of sandalwood products and learn about its cultivation and history at India's first Sandalwood Museum.

This first-of-a-kind museum has been set up by the Mysuru Forest Davison at the Sandalwood Depot in Aranya Bhavan at Ashokapuram in city and was inaugurated by District Minister S.T. Somashekar on Jan. 25.

The museum has been conceptualised in such a way that it will help spread awareness about the history and the cultivation of sandalwood products. Notably, Mysuru is quite famous for its sandalwood soaps, sandalwood oil, incense sticks, etc.

Speaking on the occasion, Somashekar said that he had asked Forest Department officials to establish the Museum at Mysore Palace premises after seeking permission from the Palace Board as the Palace premises is a high-security zone and the products displayed at the Museum are valuable and need that level of security.

Pointing out that even the Palace Board had indicated that they would construct a building to house the Museum, the Minister said that as it is a long and time-consuming procedure, the Museum has been established at Aranya Bhavan. He added that space is available at Mysuru Zoo premises also and mooted the idea of shifting the Museum there after holding discussions on the safety and security of the Museum and the Zoo.

Demand for scented wood

Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF), Mysuru, Dr. K.C. Prashanth Kumar said that the main aim of establishing the Sandalwood Museum is to encourage sandalwood cultivation and added that the cultivation area had reduced as there is confusion among growers whether sandalwood could be grown and sold legally.

Due to fewer growers, the supply of sandalwood has reduced drastically though the demand has gone up resulting in the cost of sandalwood going up, the DCF said. Pointing out that anyone could purchase up to 3 kg of sandalwood for puja purposes at the 'Gandhada Kote' in Aranya Bhavan premises, he said that buyers need to produce his/her Aadhaar card or Voter ID.

Dr. Prashanth Kumar said that experiments were going on to install microchips to sandalwood trees in the State to prevent thefts and added that microchips have been successfully installed in Tamil Nadu and the same would be taken up in Karnataka in a year or two after the success of the experiment.

What's in the Museum?

The Museum has been set up by the Regional Forest Department in an area of 17X8 metres (55.77X26.24ft) at a cost of Rs. 18 lakh. The Museum has a display of Sandalwood classification, types of sandalwood, billets, dust of sandalwood, sandalwood products such as incense sticks, sandal soaps, sandalwood sculptures, talcum powder, etc. and posters containing information pertaining to sandalwood growing and prevention of diseases.

The Museum is open to the public on all days (except on Sundays and general holidays) from 10 am to 5 pm. Also, a separate room and an auditorium with a projector and seating arrangements has been constructed for visitors who could learn more about sandalwood cultivation and have first-hand information about it through interviews of successful sandalwood growers. Audio information pertaining to sandalwood would also be provided to the visitors.

Chorus grows for relief package to coffee growers

Madikeri, Jan. 27 (OSR)- There is an increasing demand from coffee growers for a relief package in the budget to be presented by the State Government this year.

Dr. Sannuvanda Kaverappa

The demands have grown after the Kerala Government increased the Minimum Support Price (MSP) for raw Robusta Coffee at Rs. 90 per kg in Wayanad district. For a 50 kg bag, the MSP offered by Kerala is Rs. 4,500. The MSP announcement comes at a time when coffee growers are reeling under severe crisis owing to the low price of the produce, higher input cost and vagaries of weather.

Even the coffee grower community from Kodagu have been demanding relief package as they feel that the amount paid through the calamity relief fund under the National Disaster Management Plan will not be sufficient to recoup the losses suffered by them due to unprecedented rains.

Former Vice-President of Coffee Board Dr. Sannuvanda Kaverappa said that since 2015, the coffee growers in Karnataka were suffering due to lack of good prices, high input, labour costs and adverse weather, but successive Governments have ignored the plight of the growers.

A waiver of coffee loans, rescheduling of outstanding loans and reduction in the interest rate for loans are justified considering the difficult times faced by the growers. "Coffee planters in the district are reeling under loss because of various reasons, including vagaries of monsoon and COVID-19. I appeal to the Government to declare a special relief package and announce a waiver of short-term loans and developmental loans taken by coffee growers," he said.

He also sought immediate payment of pending subsidies towards replanting and other schemes of the Coffee Board. "Kodagu has been tormented by weather and either it is lack of rains or excessive rains that have led to landslides and destruction of plantations.

Karnataka must follow the Kerala model where an MSP of Rs. 90 per kg has been declared to Wayanad coffee growers," he demanded.

Mysuru/ Hassan, Jan. 27 (BCT)- Hours after Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa directing the State officials to crackdown on illegal mining activities following a blast in Shivamogga killing six persons, the Internal Security Division has seized a huge cache of explosives at a village near Hassan.

Apart from Pandavapura in Mandya district where mining is rampant, Hassan too is the epicentre of illegal mining where rocks worth several crores are being quarried on in the rocky hills spread over several villages of Hassan and Holenarasipura taluks, without passing through Government checks.

In the raids conducted by the Internal Security Division, a total of 1,250 gelatine sticks, two detonators, a megger tester, two bundles of zinc wires and large amounts of ammonium nitrate were recovered.

The place is owned by one Manjegowda of Indrapuri village, in Hassan's Gorur Police Station limits. The explosives were stored in rooms constructed in the land. A team of Internal Security Division raided the place and seized the explosives from his place.

According to the Police, Manjegowda was running a quarry in Hassan district and now he is into supplying of explosive substances illegally to quarry owners across Karnataka. He is on the run and a dragnet has been spread to arrest him, the Police said.

Gorur Police have taken up case under provisions of Explosive Substances Act 1908. As per the provisions under the Act, storage and possession of explosives is illegal. Internal Security Division Southern Range Dy.SP Prabhakar Rao Shinde led the raids and Inspector Gopalakrishna, Sub-Inspector Krishnappa, Head Constables Mohan, Gangegowda, Constables Santhosh, Kannan, Jayanna and drivers Somashekar and Shivaprakash participated.

Total ban in Baby Betta

In a related development, Mandya Assistant Commissioner B.C. Shivanandamurthy has clarified that mining has been banned in Baby Betta in Pandavapura taluk and several other mines and quarries have been restrained from carrying out their activities.

There are 21 crushers and one stone quarry at Baby Betta that have been permitted to mine but now in the wake of Government directives, all mining activities have been stopped, he said. Those mine crusher owners who have got permits must re-submit the old permits and other documents including compliance report to Mandya DC and re-secure permission.

The DC has the final authority in deciding which companies must be permitted to carry out mining activities, Shivanandamurthy added. Activities have been stopped even at legal and permitted crushers as there is no information on how they are sourcing raw materials including explosives to blast the stones.

The Assistant Commissioner revealed that two exclusive teams have been formed to track any legal or illegal mining activities in Baby Betta and its surrounding areas and the teams will be doing surveillance 24x7.

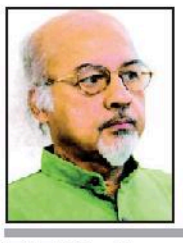
MGR could, Jaya could, Rajini can't



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Rajinikant had publicly announced his decision to enter politics, a decision that would have changed Tamil Nadu politics drastically. He was set to reveal the name of his party on December 31. Then he fell ill. Seeing that as an order from God, he said: "I regret to announce that I am not in a position to launch a party."

Why did God ask him to stay off politics when God helped many other stars to get into politics and make history? By the yardsticks other stars established, the heroic stature of Rajinikant made him a suitable boy for politics. For many years he resisted pressure from friends and admirers to get into politics and stuck to his filmic path.

But finally he fell. He took to the modernist devise of Twitter to announce, not his political party, but his intention to form a political party. He was already on record with the statement that there was a leadership vacuum in Tamil Nadu. In the flowery language of a film script, he said: "With great support from people, in the upcoming Assembly elections, an honest righteous, transparent, corruption-free, casteless, secular and spiritual politics will be formed in Tamil Nadu for sure." He coined the hashtag ippo illattai eppo, if not now, when? The clarion call was: Let us change, let us change everything. A Tamil phrase was devised, probably to impress locals as well as outsiders. The brave term was: Maathuvom — ellatheyum maathuvom.

What Rajini could not hide was that he had been under BJP's pressure for long. Being essentially a northern idea, the BJP has been unable to take root in Tamil country. Rajini had to take this into account; despite his ties with BJP friends, he was forced to adopt an independent posture in the launching of his formal party. Three auspicious dates were finalised, all of them in January, for the final announcements and the formal inauguration. Then God intervened.

Rajini's bid to enter politics should not be seen as a continuation of the Tamil tradition of film stars taking on political leadership. The gap between him and the stalwarts of an earlier era is too wide to be ignored. C.N. Annadurai, who brought cinema and politics together, was a thinker and a pioneer. His was not a narrow provincial mind. He understood the primal force of language in nation-building and accepted it as a factor that separated Dravida tradition from Aryavarta. MGR apprenticed with Annadurai for long, thus qualifying as a politician. Jayalalithaa in turn apprenticed with MGR and turned herself into a formidable politician. Rather than benefit from the film industry, these mass leaders let the film industry benefit from their politics. And let no one forget the humiliations that Jayalalithaa had to go through before she attained invincibility.

Rajinikant does not fit into MGR-Jaya shoes because, among other things, he did not have a period of apprenticeship under masters of the genre. He had no recognised veterans to mentor him. He has been only a filmic hero with no political credentials. In a land where even living Gods like Shivaji Ganeshan were not acceptable as political heroes, it was over-ambitious for Rajinikant to expect God-hood on the strength of mere filmic stardom.

MGR Jayalalithaa Rajinikant

After all, there are limits that Rajinikant must necessarily face when he is trying to cash in on Dravida pride without being Dravida. There are limits that must be taken seriously when Shivaji Rao Gaekawad wants the filmic stardom of Rajinikant to be automatically transferred to him for purposes of partisan politics. Rajini Gaekawad cannot eat the cake of C. N. Annadurai's glory and have it too. Everything is possible in filmland. Politics is different. It is a harsh field where courtesies yield to the power game.

Ask Kamala Haasan. He has been acting and talking like a seasoned politician for quite a while. He even floated his own party, fondly named Makkal Needhi Maiam. But where are the makkal? Will Rajinikant fare any better with makkal, especially when he is tied down to a political philosophy represented by the BJP which has found no takers among his kind of makkal? The lesson to learn is obvious: Stardom in filmland is no automatic route to stardom in politics.

That Rajini describes his politics as spiritual betrays the confusion in him. Mixing politics with spirituality is like mixing milk with rum. The wise will have either milk or rum. The otherwise, unable to distinguish white from dark brown, will end up missing both the elixirs.

Electric Vehicle Charging Station

The CESC MD said there are two charging points — AC (Alternating Current) and DC (Direct Current). While AC point will take long hours to charge vehicle, DC point will take 60 to 80 minutes for full charging. Currently, most of the EV owners have AC charger points at their home that would take 12-13 hours for full charging.

At Vijayanagar Charging Station, there are three AC charging points and one DC point. "In coming days, Electric Vehicles may replace vehicles run on petrol or diesel as it works out to be cheap. With charging three to four units, an EV may run up to 100 kms. For covering the same distance, fossil-fuel based vehicle may require four to five litres. The EV boom is expected in the coming days as the Government of India is promoting Electric Vehicles in a big scale," he noted.

Explaining the salient features of the EV Charging Station at Vijayanagar, Basavaraj, Junior Engineer, CESC, said it would be open 24x7. Tariff would be different for AC (slow charging) and DC (fast charging) points. Rate would be decided after three months of free charging as per guidelines of KERC. There are various mode of payment for recharging vehicle, for which one has to down the app.

New stations in 2 months

Final round of talks are going on with the company concerned for setting up of two more stations in Kuvempunagar and at KEB Office, Kesare in Rajendranagar. Once finalised, the stations would be ready within two months. Once EV owners download the app, they can get their vehicles recharged on their own without anybody's help, he noted.

Much needed station

N. Raghavan, proprietor of Raghulal & Co., told SOM that EV Charging Station was much needed as charging with DC point would save a lot of time. "I have a battery operated car which needs charging for 12-13 hours with normal (AC) charging point. Having a DC point is little bit expensive. With the public EV Charging Station established by CESC, I will prefer going there to get my car fully charged in less than one hour. With 6-7 units charged, I can travel up to 370 kms." he said.

Candle holder from Mysore Palace up for auction ?

The candelabrum has one tier with 10 arms with wall shade with bulbs and disc. Each disc has 10 spear loops of which one is missing in each. It has one flower bud motif bowl with 16 pear-shaped bead loops and one smaller flower bud motif bowl with 14 spear shaped loops. It is 208.3 x 86.4 x 86.4 centimetres and dates back to late 19th Century.

The Osler floor candelabrum has been categorised under 'Lot 32' and has been manufactured by F&C Osler in Birmingham, United Kingdom — originally from the collection of Mysore Palace. The candelabrum (candle holder) is a fine example of exquisite artistry and craftsmanship and design and its estimated price is between Rs. 25 lakh and Rs. 30 lakh.

The AstaGuru auction platform mentions, "This lot is over one hundred years old or National Art Treasure, cannot be exported out of India as per Antiques and Art Treasures Act, 1972."

Established in Birmingham in 1807 by Thomas Osler and his two sons, Follet and Clartson, the F&C Osler firm manufactured purest and most delicate quality crystal chandeliers. Over the year, the firm was recognised as the best glassmakers globally.

The Maharajas of India fancied their creations and almost all the leading Palaces had crystal chandeliers manufactured by F&C Osler. The firm shut shop in 1920 and since then, the exquisite crystal pieces became the most sought-after crystal in the world.

Misattribution, says Pramoda Devi Wadiyar

Pramoda Devi further in her letter said that this auction had caused intense embarrassment to her, her family and friends, many of whom have contacted her in disbelief.

Added to this, an article based on this false claim has been published in certain newspapers. "We now also have to contact these news dailies and correct the misconception, which, by now must have been seen by countless readers of the newspapers," the letter stated.

"I was told that you have corrected the misattribution in your online catalogue after the telephone conversations you and Rakshanda Hussain have had yesterday with Michael Ludgrove. This is too little and too late," she has stated in the letter.

DCs to stay overnight in villages, address problems on spot

Programme to be launched next month: District Minister announces at Republic Day event

Mysuru, Jan. 27 (MTY&SSV)- In a bid to take the administration to door steps of rural people, the State Government will launch a new programme 'Jilladikarigala Nade Halli Kade' (Deputy Commissioner marches towards villages) from February to find solutions on the spot, said Co-operation and Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar.

He was speaking after unfurling the National Flag at Torch Light Parade Grounds in Bannimantap here as part of the 72nd Republic Day celebrations here yesterday.

The celebration was scaled down due to COVID-19 and the number of contingents in the march-past had been restricted to just two, Police and Home Guards. Cultural programmes, presented by the school children every year, did not take place this time due to the threat of the pandemic. The Minister inspected the parade and received the guard of honour.

Speaking on the occasion, Minister Somashekar said, as part of this novel programme, the DCs, along with heads of various Departments, should visit villages, stay back in villages and try to solve local problems on the spot. This would prevent villagers from frequenting the DC's office to get their works done. It would be launched next month across the State, he said adding that villagers must take advantage of the same by getting their problems redressed at local level.

Co-operation and Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar inspecting the Republic Day Parade at Torch Light Parade Ground in Bannimantap in city yesterday.

COVID under control

Saying efforts were on for overall development of district, the Minister said that the contagion that had gone out of control a few months ago, was now under total control, thanks to the good management by the district officers who conducted record number of RT-PCR test. The Corona Warriors deserved full complement from the State Government for working day and night. As many as 42,000 vials of Covishield vaccine had arrived in city with which almost all healthcare workers had been vaccinated so far. Karnataka has been in forefront in COVID-19 management and Prime Minister Narendra Modi has complimented the State for successfully launching 'Atmanirbhar' scheme.

Explaining the importance of Republic Day, Somashekar said it was the first national festival of new year and every citizen must celebrate it with a sense of proud. It was also the day of implementation of the Constitution on 1950. The country has got the excellent Constitution, thanks to efforts of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar. After review and amendments, the Constitution was accepted on Nov. 26, 1949 and came into effect from Jan. 26, 1950.

Centre support

The Minister said that the Government of India has been supporting all projects of the State since last six years. As much as Rs. 1.16 lakh crore has been earmarked to be spent on improvement of National Highways in the State. Under Kisan Samman, the Centre was paying an incentive of Rs. 6,000 to each farmer and the State Government was giving Rs. 4,000. The Department of Co-operation has set a target of disbursing Rs. 15,300 crore loan to 24 lakh farmers through the Department. Already, Rs. 12,500 crore loan had been disbursed to 19.5 lakh farmers. "I am personally visiting all District Credit Co-operative banks to see its implementation," he added.

Minister S.T. Somashekar distributing laptops to students of Govt. Schools who scored highest marks in SSLC exams.

He said 'Swachha Sarvekshan' survey was on to decide on the 'Clean City' in country and Mysureans must respond to it positively by keeping their surroundings clean. As part of protection of cleanliness, tender process was on for establishing Solid Waste Treatment Plants at Kesare and Rayanakere at an estimated cost of Rs. 41 crore. Works are expected to begin soon, he added.

On this occasion, the Minister distributed laptops to three students of Government Schools who scored highest marks in SSLC 2020 exams.

They are C.L. Kashyap (610/625) of Manuganahalli High School, Hunsur taluk, S.C. Pooja (608) of Government Composite PU College, Saligrama taluk and M. Apeksha (605) of Government High School of Maakodu, Periypatna taluk.

WORD OF THE DAY

Haptic

Pronunciation: HAP-tik.
Meaning: Relating to or based on the sense of touch; characterised by a predilection for the sense of touch.
Origin: Haptic felt its way into English in the 19th century as a back-formation of haptics, a noun which was borrowed from the New Latin hapticē (meaning "science of touch," and derived ultimately from the Greek haptesthai, meaning "to touch") in the 1700s. Haptic was originally a medical synonym for tactile. By the 20th century, it had developed a psychological sense, describing individuals whose perception supposedly depended primarily on touch rather than sight. Although almost no one today divides humans into haptic and visual personalities, English retains the broadened psychological sense of haptic as well as the older "tactile" sense.
Example: "We're all accustomed to haptic controllers that send game-related vibrations through our fingers." — Hiawatha Bray, The Boston Globe.

THE ODD WORD

Hagiomania

Mania for sainthood.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Half a loaf is better than no bread

Meaning: Something, even if it isn't what you ideally would prefer, is better than nothing.
Origin: This proverbial saying is first found in the same place as many other proverbial sayings - John Heywood's 1546 glossary A dialogue conteinyng the nomber in effect of all the prouerbes in the englishe tongue: Throwe no gyft agayne at the giuers head, For better is halfe a lofe then no bread.
Many proverbs are a form of condensed popular wisdom and 'half a loaf is better than no bread' seems like plain common sense - few would argue with it. Nevertheless, in psychology experiments to determine whether fairness was an innate concept in humans or whether it was learned, pairs of UK and US children have been set the following test:
One child is offered four sweets (or candy if you prefer) and the other is offered one. The child with the opportunity to take four sweets is given this choice:
A. Either, you get four sweets and the other child gets one.
B. Or, you both get nothing. Surprisingly to many, children routinely choose option B and reject the sweets, preferring to maintain a sense of fairness. In purely material terms this makes little sense as, by maintaining fairness, the choosing child robs the partner of one sweet and him/herself of four.
Heywood might have suggested 'throw no gift at the giver's head' but children don't appear to agree.

QUOTE BOX

Destiny is a name often given in retrospect to choices that had dramatic consequences. — J. K. Rowling
